International Private Schools in BUDAPEST

» Budapest offers many options in international education, so expats and diplomats looking to stick with the curricula of their home countries can choose out of a large number of private international schools for their children. Current trends indicate that a growing number of local residents are also more likely to enroll their children into these schools, because the multicultural environment and the opportunity to gain excellent language skills cannot be reached elsewhere. All of these schools satisfy the requirements of the Hungarian national system, while their programs may vary from the International Baccalaureate (I.B.) program, which includes PYP, MYP and Diploma to the British GCSE and GCE examination systems.
