"1989-2019: 30 Years After" – Central Europe in a Global Context

Kőszeg, June 28 -July 6, 2019

It is the 30th anniversary of the beginning of the process of political transition in Central and Eastern European countries that has become irreversible. After the period of preparation for European integration, starting with the optimism and momentum characteristic of the 1990s, the new members and the core countries of Europe soon faced specific problems after the 2004 legal accession. The consequences of the 2008 global economic crisis, the wars in the Middle East and the challenges of mass migration caused by the Arab Spring in North Africa have imposed and continue to impose a heavy burden on EU leadership. In recent years, several social, political, societal and cultural issues caused by external and internal tensions have become prevalent, to which a unifying Europe must provide real answers.
